

Kings Corner

Kings Corner Farms was established in 1903 and is a family-run operation built on hard work, tradition, and a deep-rooted passion for ranching. Carrying the Quarter Circle M brand, the operation focuses on cow/calf production and backgrounding yearlings. At the helm is Kevin King, owner and boss of the operation. Kevin oversees the day-to-day workings of the ranch and carries on the traditions that have kept Kings Corner Farms going for generations. Shoni King holds an Animal Science degree with a minor in Range Management, making her a valuable asset to the daily operations. Her education and hands-on ranch experience contribute to the care of the cattle, horses, and land. Zane King has returned to the ranch and is living his dream of being part of the family operation. When he isn't working cattle, Zane enjoys hunting and taxidermy. Leanne Myer of Weyburn is currently training horses and pasture riding, while also lending a hand with day work whenever needed. Her horsemanship and willingness to help make her an important part of the team. Together, the Kings Corner Farms team brings generations of ranching experience, horsemanship, and a strong work ethic to the arena. They are proud to represent their family, their ranch, and the Quarter Circle M brand wherever the road takes them.
