

Mad House Ranch

Layne Giofu – Crashing the plane just north of Mortlach, Layne has won a participation ribbon in almost everything ranch and rodeo related. His rope will strike like a rattlesnake, and he'll ride the hair off any broke horse put in front of him. Captaining a team of wildcard cowboys will be the biggest challenge yet.

Lars Baron – From the exotic land of Manitoba, this Scandinavian cowboy can be found shoeing horses and riding the range at Valjean pasture. Quick witted and even faster to the feed trough, Mr. Baron is like a ninja with a rope and spends more time in the saddle than a loin cloth on Tarzan. If its got hair on it, he can ride it and if its got a pulse, he can tie it down.

Colin Montgomery – Born and raised in the mountain ranges of Crane Valley, Colin does it all. He rides pasture, farms, and rodeos. A natural born stockman, he works cows better than babe the pig, table manners are about the same. The man has never thrown a rope that didn't end up with 2 feet in it.

Garrett Brownlee – Residing somewhere too close to Moose Jaw, Garrett is a career cowboy. He is an absolute stalwart, been there tied that down type. The only thing harder than his head is the amount of try he gives. The man can ride anything with four legs and could beat us all twirling an extension cord.
