into the main frame of the tractor.
 after the new engine was put in i put the engines mounting bolts back in to hold engine to the main frame once the engine was secure i started to reconnect the drive shaft damper back on to the engine block torqued to specs. than put the A-frame back over top of the drive shaft bolted down to specs. reconnected the hose that connects to the engines oil pump.
 once that was done i put the rad carriage back onto the front of the frame of the tractor & the dpf housing so that i can put the super structure that holds the air intake components back over top of the tractors engine.
 reconnected all air intake hoses and rad lines.
 then pulled the AC condenser & pump that i had put a side and placed the pump back onto the engine & condenser back in the the rad assembly once that was done i was able to put the hood and panels back over the engine and tire were put back on to tractor along with a new ECU and everything was tested and ran
