Correction	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> -Hooked up EST, checked for active faults, did not have any active -Ran unit with no faults -Ran the combine and no errors occurred - hooked up EST and logged parameters - looked over parameters after running and fuel pressure was below the set point - checked and tested lift pump - checked pump and engine timing and replaced metering valve - tested injection pump and removed plungers and inspected, good - hooked up hoses and performed injector leakage test - 69ml is 60 seconds at 1000rpm and 130ml at 2100rpm (spec at idle 48ml high rpm 72ml) - injectors had excessive leakage and injection pump looked fine - needed to replace injectors. none were available at the time so had someone at the shop take some out of another unit - went back out to customers - pulled air intake and valve cover off - removed all the injectors, cleaned up the known good ones and installed new o rings and sealing washers and re installed into the combine - re installed valve cover and air intake - cleaned up engine from oil and fuel - replaced rail pressure sensor and relief valve, as there was excessive pressure spikes in the system multiple times - hooked up EST and set the injector codes - performed another leakage test at idle i had 45ml at 2100rpm i had 100ml - took combine out and ran to verify no fault codes came back up
