| August 12 2026 | | Transmission Complaint | | [illegible] regards to the transmission concern found that there is an applicable TSB. He was able to verify the concern of the harsh shifts. He has checked the fluid level and condition which passed. At this time he would need to perform an accelerated break in routine, tcm reset, and adaptive learning drive cycle if the concern is still present afterwards then we would need to proceed with transmission tear down to verify internal repairs. He did also note the engine air filter is dirty and in need of replacement. Total the for the diagnostic, break in procedure and adaptive drive cycle and air filter replacement would come to $1102.92. Are we okay to proceed? |
