The staff of Conlon Motorsports will not load or unload power sports machines into or onto customer vehicles or trailers. Any loading or unloading of power sports machines is the responsibility of the customer.

The act of loading and unloading power sports machines creates a risk of injury to customers and of damage to customer's vehicles, trailers, and power sports machines, Customers have been seriously injured loading their power sports machines or have done significant damage to their vehicles, trailers, and power sports machines. This risk to customers is particularly significant if power sports machines are being loaded into truck boxes because of the necessary requirement that power sports machines must be moved over wheel wells in some instances and because the use of ramps creates a risk of tipping. Accordingly, Conlon Motorsports reminds customers that they must always use appropriate equipment when loading or unloading power sports machines and to exercise the utmost care and caution when doing so.
